IF YOUR FLY ASH ISN'T MOVING, MOVE TO CHARAH.

SUPERIOR SERVICE MAKES THE DIFFERENCE.

Great fly ash marketing demands daily attention and commitment. If your ash doesn't seem to be moving, then it's time for you to move – to Charah. We're known for keeping our promises. All the time. As the largest privately-held ash management company with over 25 locations serving the U.S., Mexico and Canada, we stand ready with a dedicated team and deep expertise in marketing fly ash.

WE MOVE FLY ASH.

Charah is a great marketing partner for utilities. Our vast knowledge of the industry helps us identify the best ways to improve each utility's long-term position in the fly ash market.

Charah has a continuous and successful track record of marketing fly ash to a broad range of customers in numerous operations and applications across the U.S., including ready-mix concrete, precast and prestressed concrete, concrete pipe, concrete block, road building and soil stabilization. We make it our policy to stay in contact with our utility partners to manage fly ash supply levels. Our fly ash sales team has over 100 years of experience, with an impressive track record of favorable results for our utility clients.

Backed by an effective Quality Control program and strong technical support, our team of sales experts provides a proven advantage to market your fly ash and keep it moving.

IF YOUR CURRENT FLY ASH SOLUTION WON'T FLY, TALK TO CHARAH.

Across the utility industry, Charah is known for providing smarter solutions, with a high level of service that others can't match.

Our market experience in all aspects of fly ash handling and recycling delivers significant value to our power plant clients. In every case, we provide an analysis of the market opportunities and logistics. We excel in identifying and recommending a sustainable approach that balances market potential.

Our experience working in a wide variety of utility locations, and complying with a diverse set of environmental regulations, has given us the know-how to deliver many advantages for our clients. Charah has the experience needed to recommend the most effective marketing solutions, including both the logistics and the terminals needed to keep your ash moving.

We are ready to help you with your fly ash needs. Together, we can design and implement a customized fly ash marketing plan that works for you, and puts service above all.
